

Who Are You, A Saver Or An Investor?

Investing is an art. To become a good investor, it is important to know more about yourself. For that, you need to ask yourself a few questions. Here is a checklist to find out what personality are you?

Saver

Short-term Needs

You save usually for going on vacation or for an emergency.

Easy Access To Money

You prefer keeping money in cash to meet an emergency need or expense.

Negligible Risk

You prefer to play it safe when it comes to investment and prefer government-guaranteed savings scheme account for minimal or no risk.

Gain Interest

You like interest income because it is easy to understand.

Investor

Long-term: Attain Bigger Objectives

You want to save for your child's college education, a holiday home or retiring rich.

You Have Saved Enough

You feel you have enough money in the bank to take care of your emergencies.

Higher Risk

You take the risk because you know inflation is your enemy and just saving is not enough.

More Possibilities Of Profit

You want to buy when prices are low and sell when prices are high. But you are not sure if that is the right time.

Being a good saver is the starting point of becoming a good investor. Once you have kept aside an adequate sum for emergencies, the transition becomes easy.
